PROFESSIONAL OVERVIEW

Bryan Murray, M.S., CSP, CIT, is an environmental, health, and safety professional with more than 20 years of experience in EHS management, industrial hygiene, risk management, loss prevention, regulatory compliance, and safety training. His career spans corporate, manufacturing, facilities, municipal, and consulting environments, including leadership roles with HCG Associates, the Rhode Island Interlocal Risk Management Trust, Corcoran Jennison Companies, Citizens Bank/Jones Lang LaSalle, EMC Corporation, and Covanta Energy.

At Citizens Bank, Bryan was responsible for property health and safety across more than 1,500 locations and 30,000 employees throughout the Americas, where he established an OSHA-compliant health and safety program and developed safety assessment and Job Safety Analysis programs. At EMC Corporation, he managed safety programs and certifications supporting more than 27,000 employees and led efforts involving OHSAS 18001 certification, OSHA VPP, ergonomics, workers' compensation and return-to-work programs, and NFPA 70E implementation.

Bryan's experience combines enterprise-level EHS leadership with hands-on program development, compliance, risk management, consulting, and workforce training. Throughout his career, he has developed and administered EHS programs, advised organizations on loss prevention and workplace risk, managed multidisciplinary safety functions, and delivered training designed to strengthen workplace safety and organizational performance.
