PROFESSIONAL BIO

PROFESSIONAL OVERVIEW

Sean McNeill is a diversified Environmental, Health & Safety (EHS) and Quality professional with over 18 years of experience supporting manufacturing, aerospace, construction, remediation, power generation, healthcare, and service-based industries. As a member of the United Alliance Services team, Sean partners with clients to deliver practical, compliant, and results-driven EHS solutions tailored to complex operational environments.

In his role with United Alliance Services, Sean provides strategic safety leadership, onsite compliance auditing, and customized training programs that strengthen safety culture, reduce risk, and improve operational performance. He is known for his ability to work seamlessly with cross-functional teams, leadership, and frontline employees to implement sustainable EHS programs that go beyond compliance.

Sean brings deep expertise in regulatory compliance, accident investigation, workers' compensation and liability management, emergency preparedness, and continuous improvement. His background in aerospace quality and lean manufacturing further enables him to bridge safety, quality, and production objectives-helping United Alliance Services clients achieve safer, more efficient, and more resilient operations.
